The LSI Difference

Learning Systems International (LSI), a division of METCOR Ltd, is a fast-paced, flexible company whose success lies in building unique and cost effective training programs quickly. A Washington, DC-based verified veteran-owned small business, we have been providing integrated, custom training solutions to Federal and commercial clients since 1979.

User-Centric, Organization-Specific

LSI begins by conducting an analysis of organizational needs, users, technology and programmatic goals. We then implement job/organization-relevant scenarios and examples and tailor courseware across multiple, distinct audience types.

Flexible and Responsive

We provide tools and processes for user role and site-specific workflow tailoring, and employ delivery strategies that accommodate users' work environments and constraints.

Low Risk

We have demonstrated successful past performance deploying and managing large-scale, multi-site training programs since 1979.

Services

LSI's corporate resume includes a broad array of training methodologies, products, and services:
