By the Luminati Assistant

Data Collection Automation

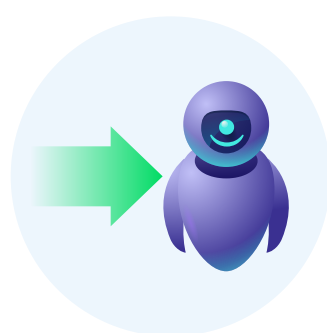

Luminati's Data Collection Automation platform aims to reduce the expense of developing and maintaining data collection systems and resources.

Data collection made easy

Request

Just let your Assistant know which data you would like collected, from where, and how often. He will structure and deliver data just the way you like it.

Receive

We guarantee the successful collection of quality data streamed directly to your desired destination, according to your schedule, in your preferred format (or you won't pay a cent).

Relax

Now that the data collection is covered, choose how to spend your spare time and energy. We told you... The DCA assistant is your go-to guy!

Control your own data extraction with ease using our DCA control panel.

You can view, schedule, and pause your operations giving you the power to choose how your data is gathered as well as the format in which it is delivered.

Our platform can currently output HTML, screenshots, parsed data, and custom requests. If you don't see what you need, let us know and we can tailor a solution to your exact needs and specifications.

Helping companies stay focused

Having a constant stream of data is the lifeblood of any company that wants to stay relevant and maintain a competitive edge. As data becomes increasingly valuable to attaining business goals, developing an effective data collection machine is becoming increasingly difficult and complex as business entities seek to step up their competitive intelligence, brand protection, web data extraction, and ad verification efforts. Once developed, these systems require continuous maintenance against bugs, and cyberattacks as well as constantly realigning based on updates made by target sites - this is both time-consuming and resource-heavy.

If you're a startup or a small to mid-sized business, this means sidetracking your company by wasting time and energy focusing on things that are not at the core of your business model.

For more established companies, not outsourcing data aggregation can have negative implications on budget optimization and streamlining as well as preventing your team from focusing on what is really important.

No matter what the size of your business, there are two main commonalities:

- Companies deeply need a constant stream of reliable, ethical and transparent data, without which they are unable to provide real value to their customers.
- Most executives steer clear of unnecessary POCs or iterative testing. The risks and resources necessary usually outweigh the benefits of a successful trial run.

DCA, which was built by a team of data collection experts, eliminates these concerns from the equation and introduces a steady influx of real-time data as well as low risk, high potential hypothesis testing. Data collection automation allows you to maintain full control of your project, and gain maximum flexibility while simultaneously adding business value by reducing associated costs and risks.

Less work. More data.

Ethical by design, compliant by choice

DCA is integrated with Luminati's internationally established network of proxies. We are GDPR compliant and have a strict KYC process in place to ensure that malicious players do not gain access to our networks and your data. We actively monitor all our products to immediately detect and prevent abuse and/or manipulation by third parties.

Our ethical by design approach means that we are the only company who collects data with peer approval and compensation so that data-driven businesses can get the information they need in a way that will not jeopardize them legally or compromise them morally.

Our company and associated products have been created with your needs in mind ensuring your data collection is carried out in compliance with your legal team's instructions. If you have user-agent, header or IP specifications, just let us know and we will customize a solution to your needs.

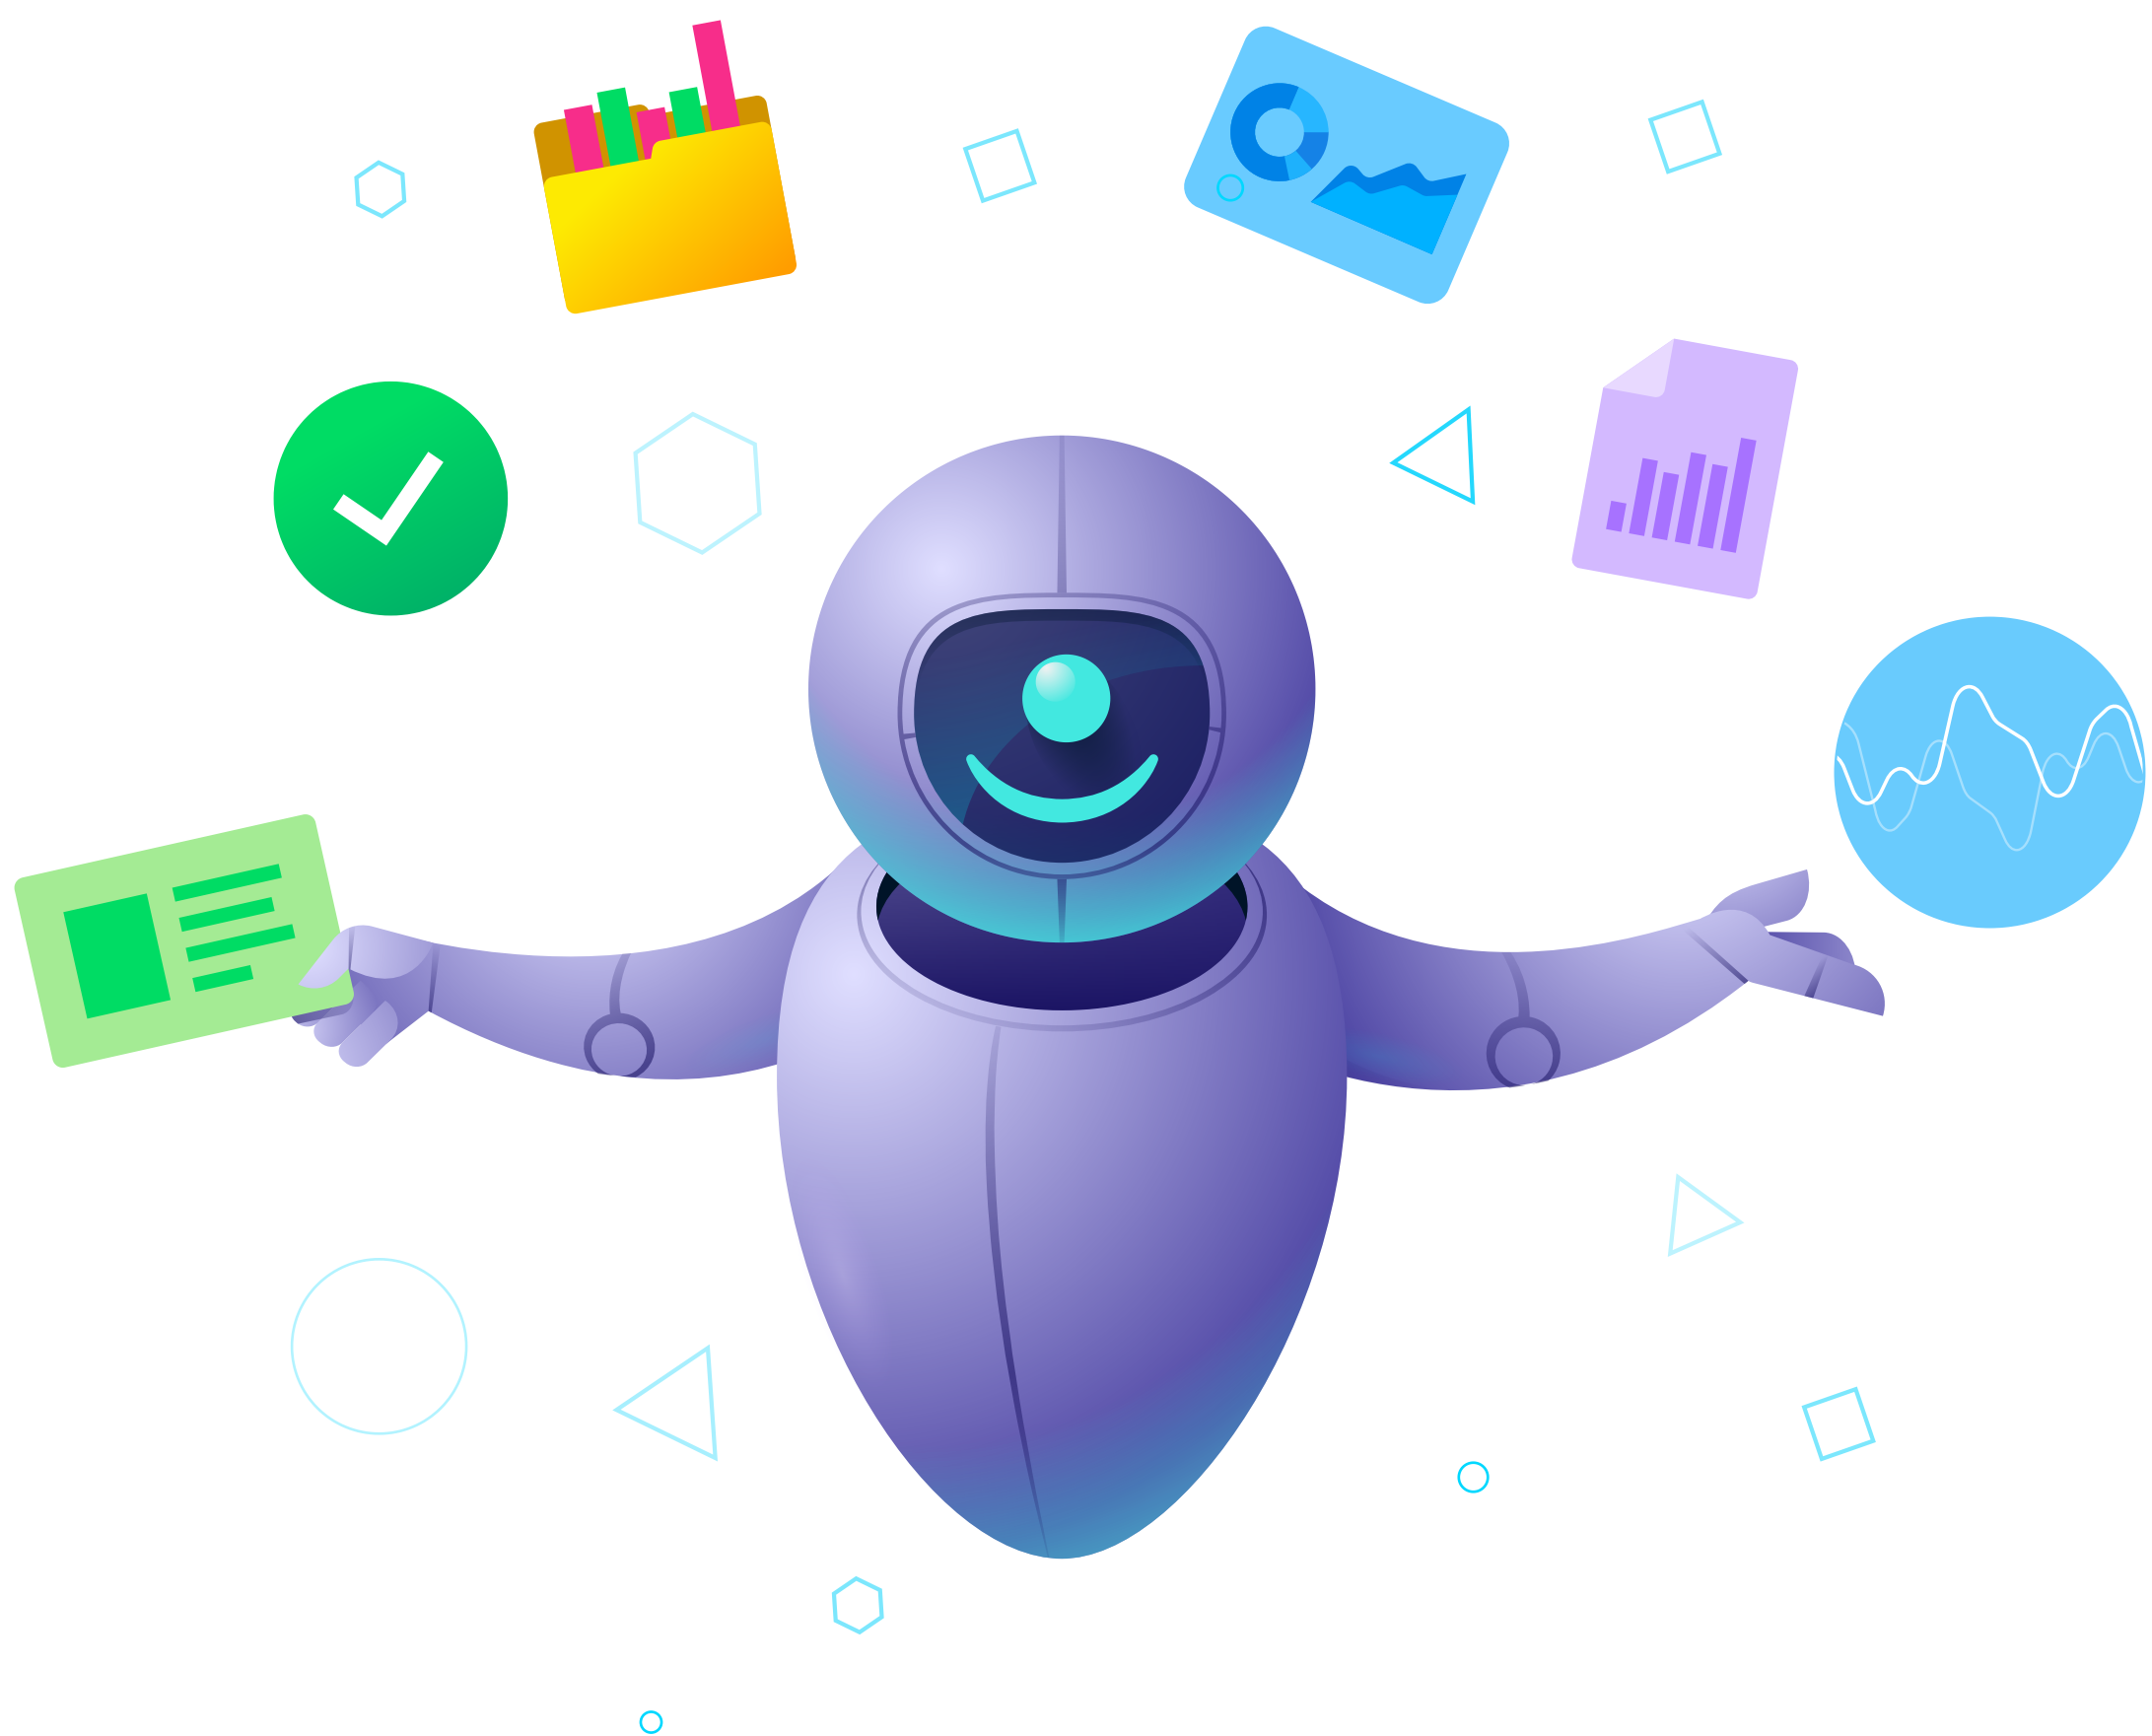

Your security is our top priority

DCA takes advantage of cutting-edge encryption techniques both in the collection and storage process. Your data is parsed into millions of illegible data points so that only you have access to the full picture. If you have specific security requirements, our tech team will dive into the details with you to ensure that we meet any and all of your requirements.

Getting started

Starting with DCA is simple. Reach out to your account manager (or sales@luminati.io) with a description of the data you're looking to collect and we'll take it from there.
